over coffee.

How to use Over Coffee

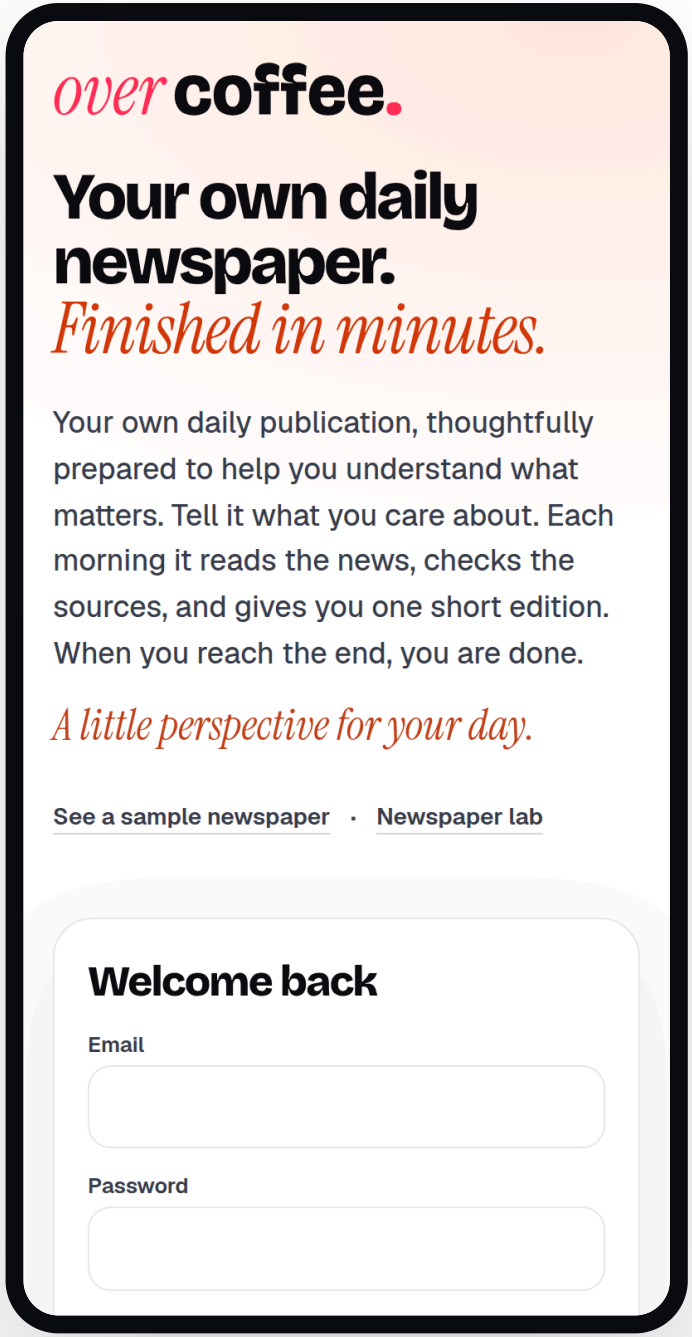

Your own daily newspaper. A few minutes, then you are done.

Sample screenshots. The edition shown uses fictional demo content.

01

Open the link

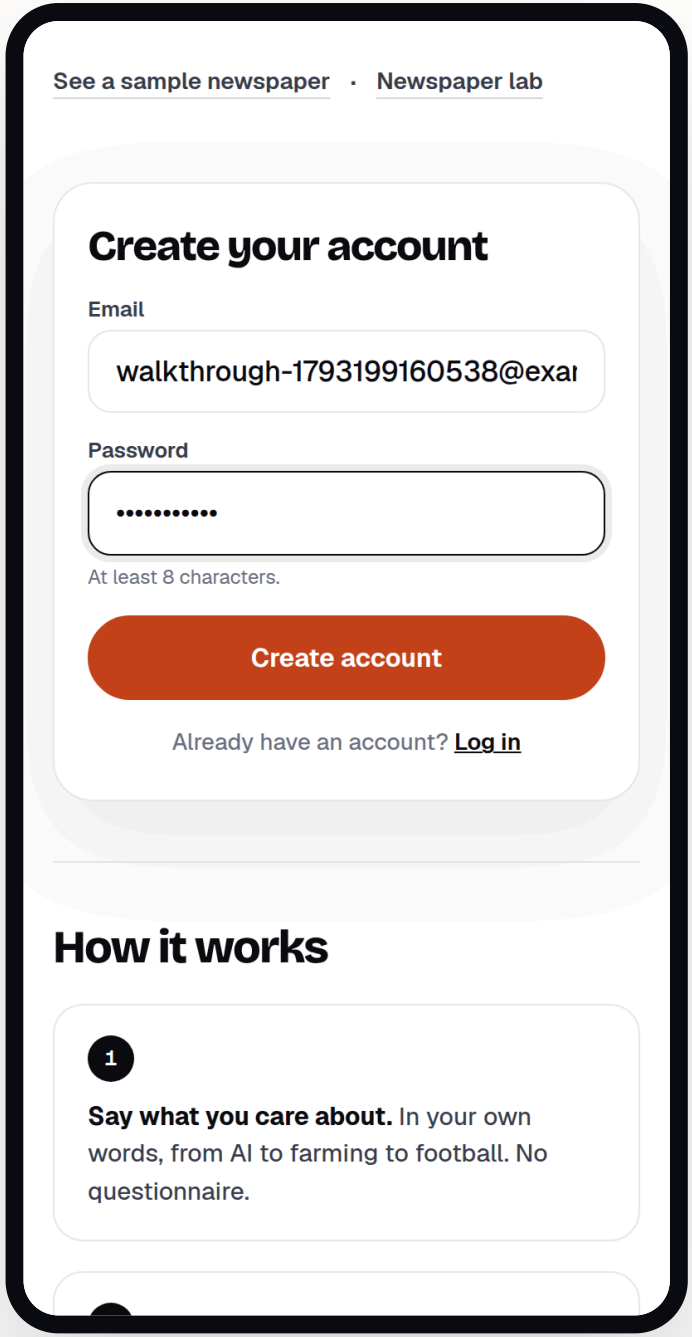

Over Coffee is your own daily newspaper.
Tap “Create an account”.

02

Create an account

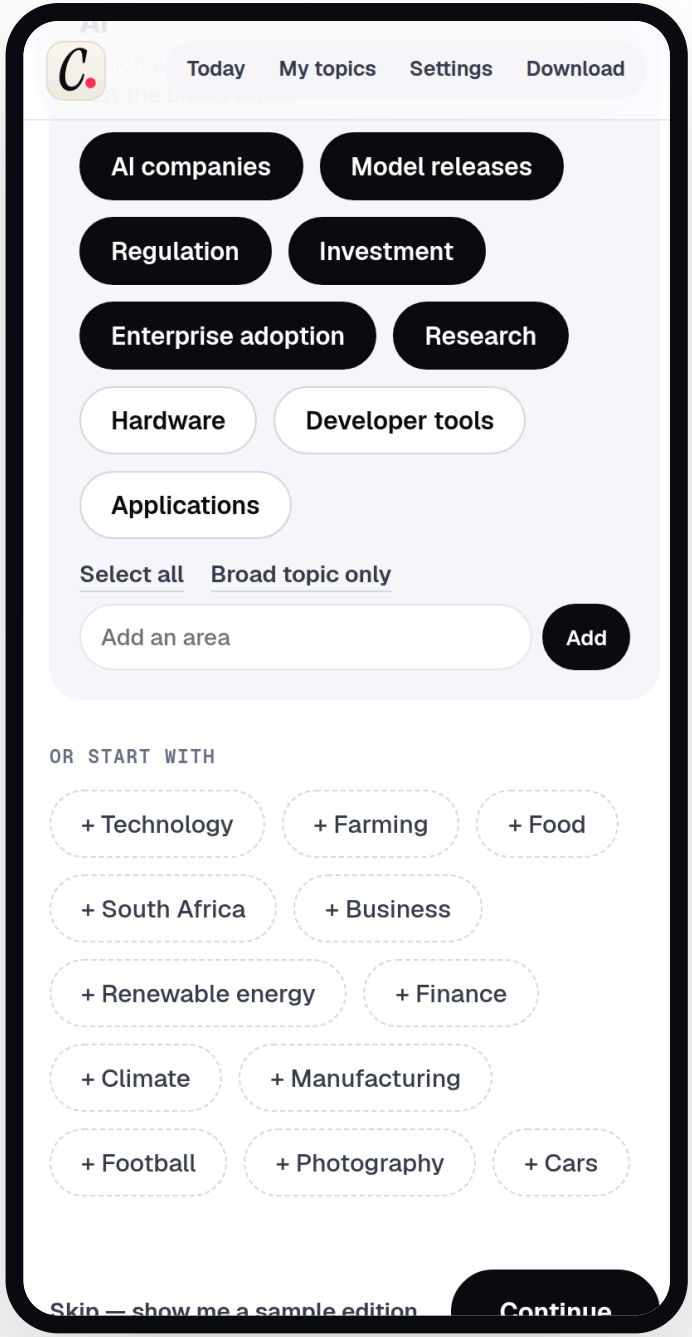

An email and a password of 8 or more characters. That is all.

03

Say what you care about

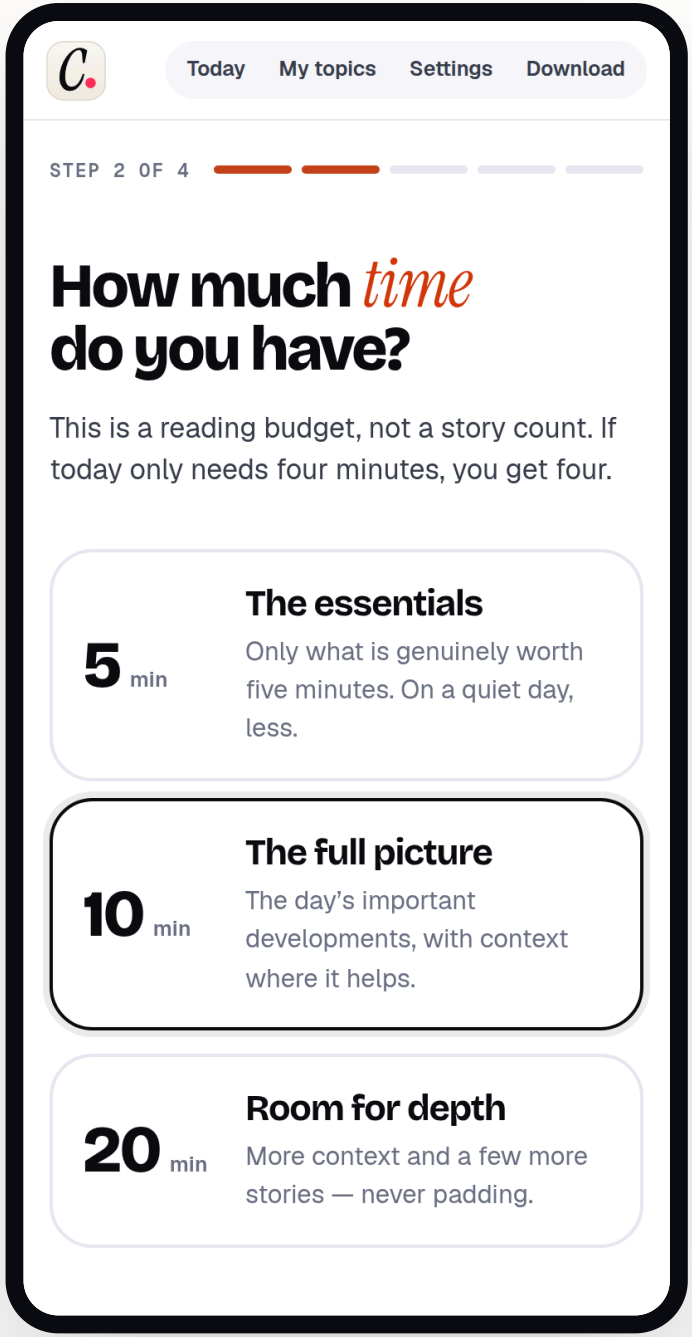

Type it the way you would say it. Tick the areas you want, add your own, or follow just the broad topic.

04

Choose your reading time

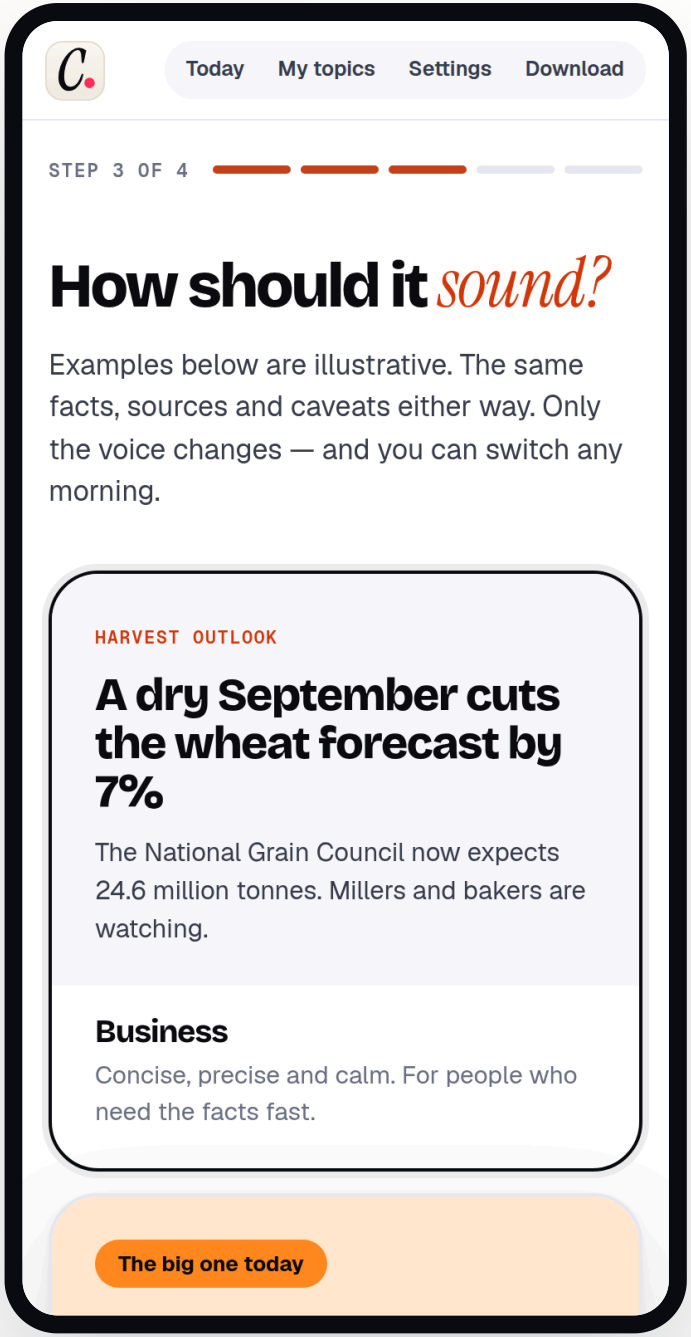

5, 10 or 20 minutes. It is a budget, not a quota: on a quiet day you get less.

05

Pick a voice

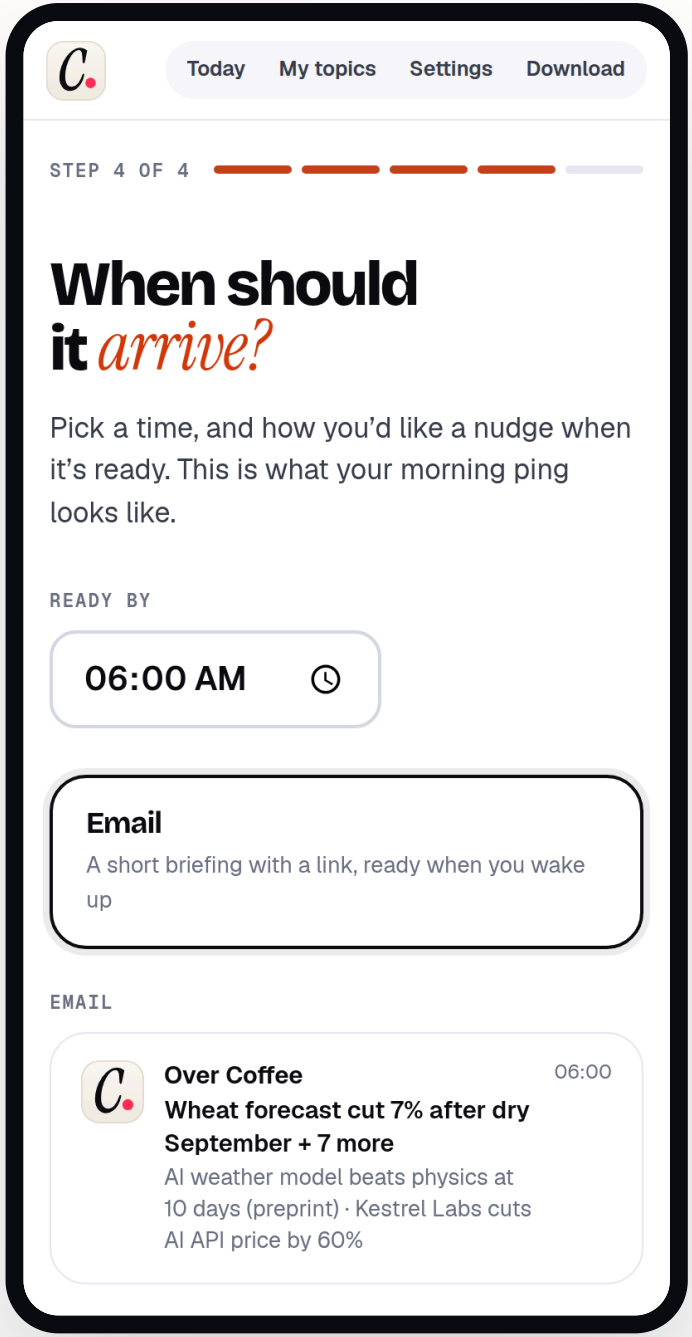

Business is concise and calm.
Conversational is a friend explaining it.
Same facts, same sources. Switch any day.

06

Choose when it arrives

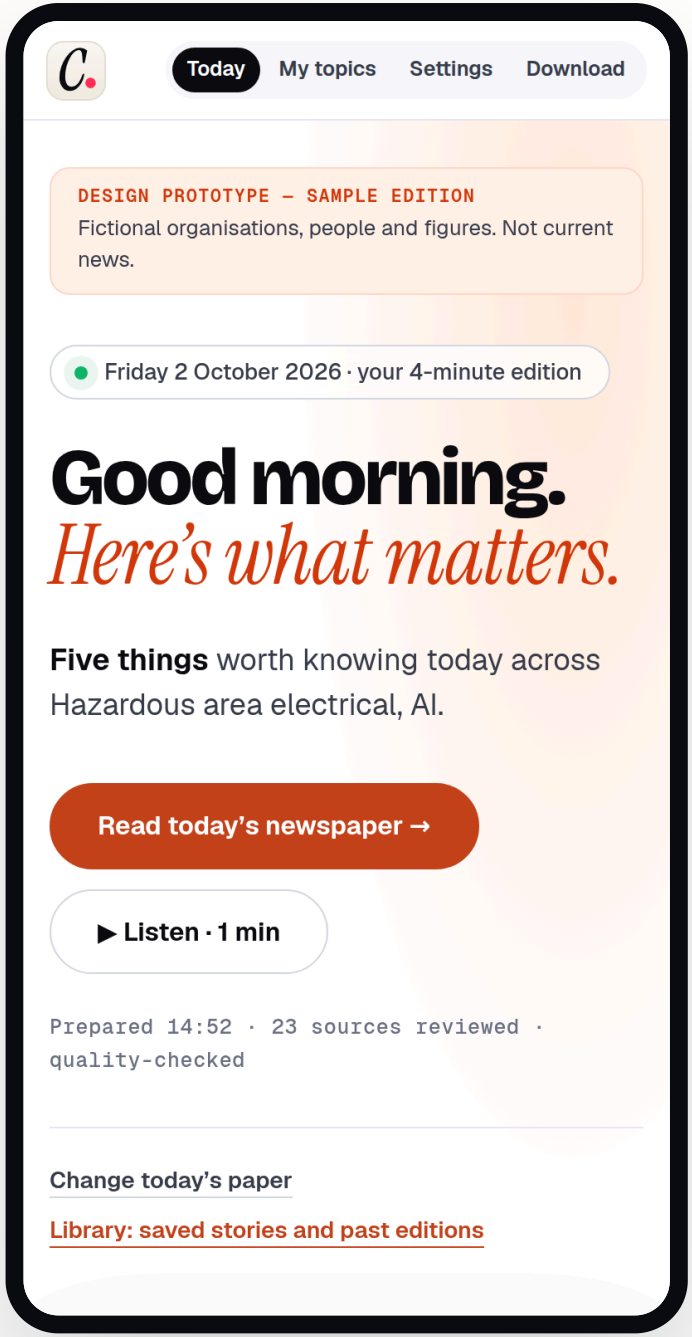

Pick a morning time. Your edition is prepared and emailed by then.

07

Your edition is ready

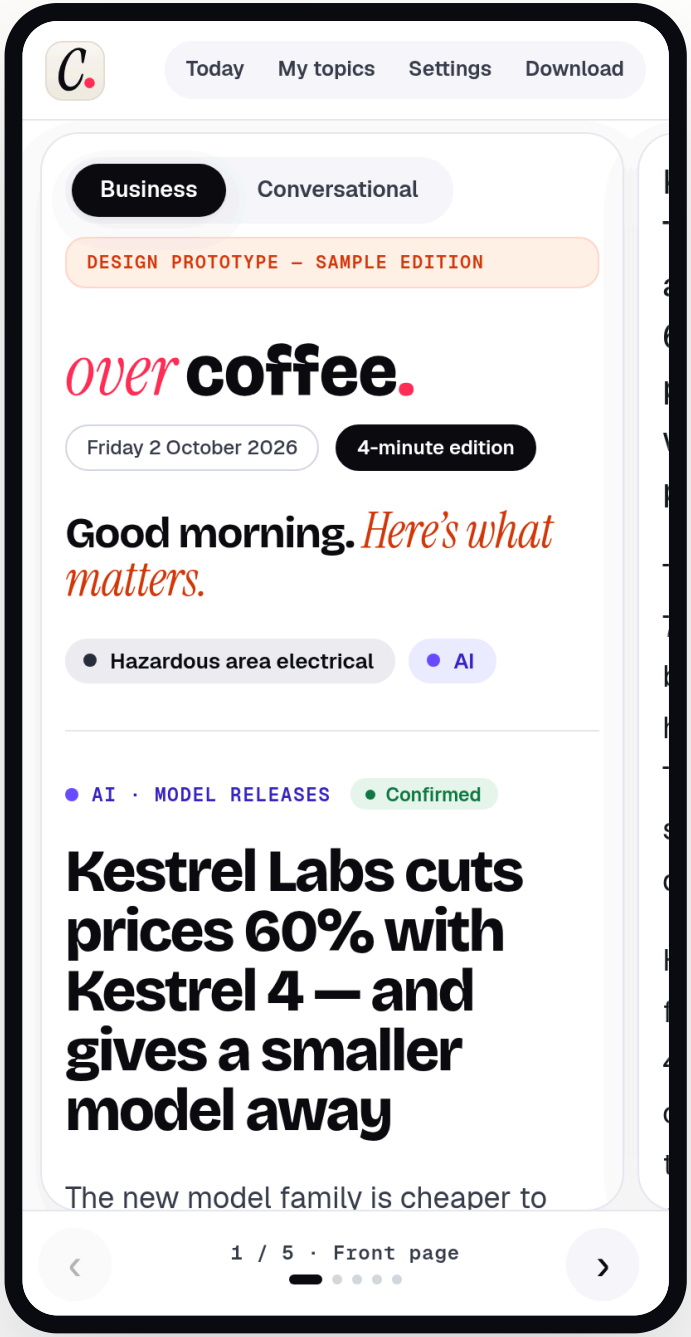

Home shows what is waiting, how long it takes, and how many sources were checked.

08

The front page

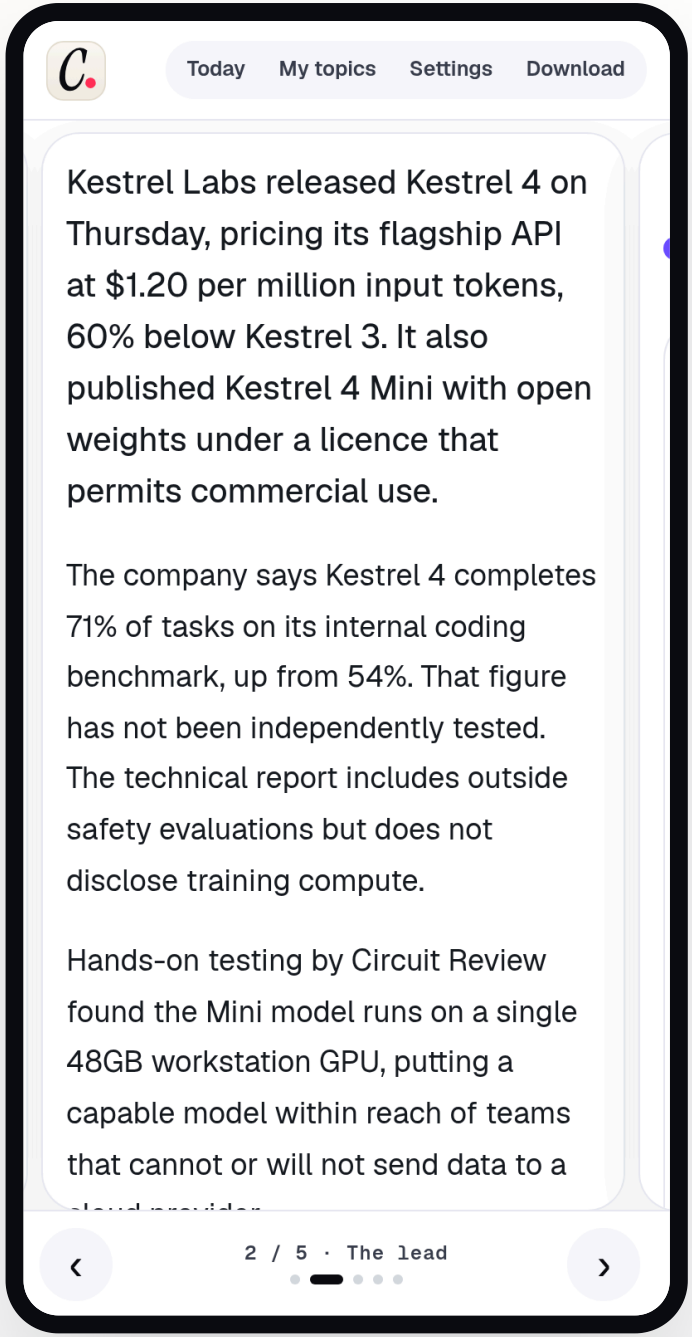

The biggest story first. Scroll down to read the page.

09

Swipe to turn the page

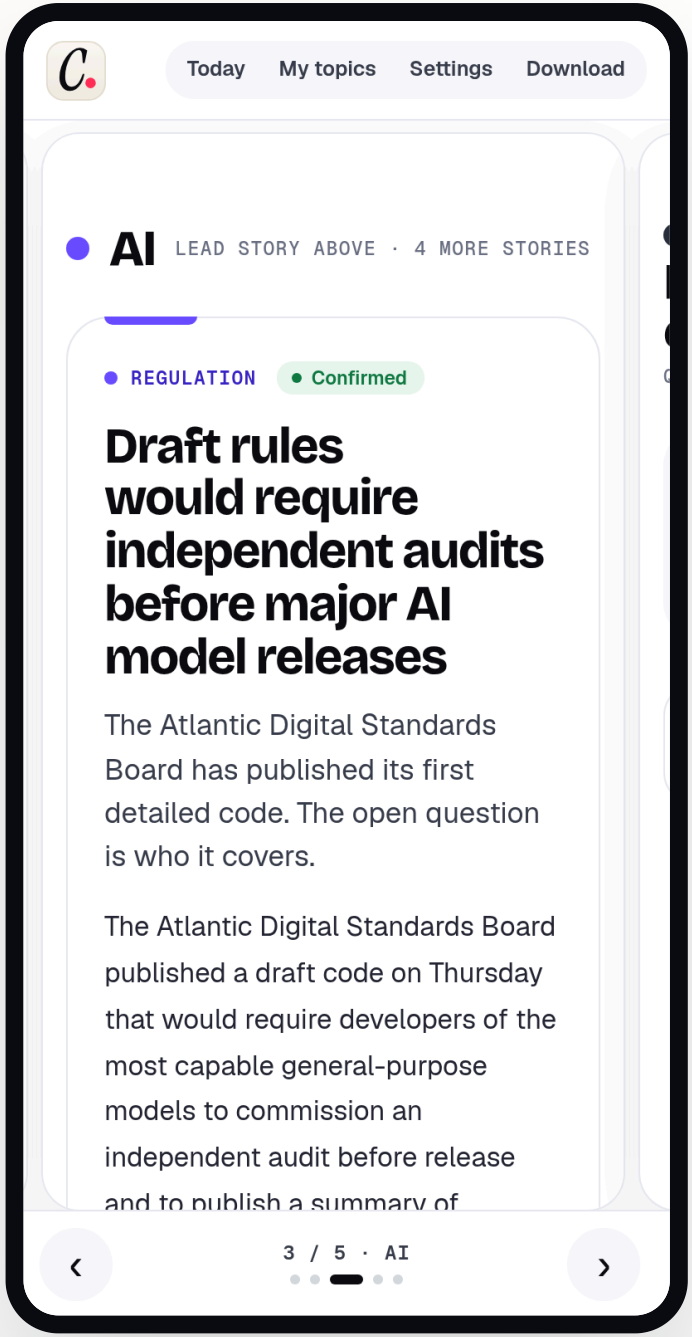

Swipe sideways, or tap the arrows. Each page is one part of the paper. The bar shows where you are.

10

One page per topic

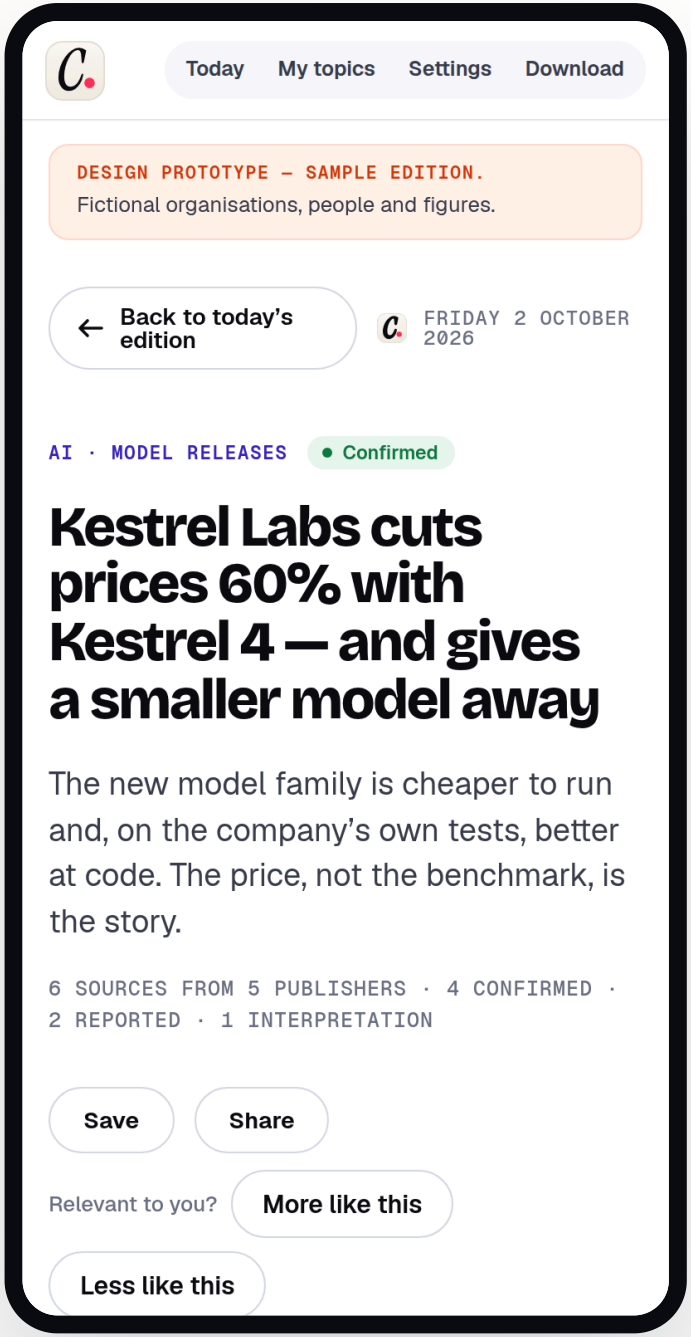

Stories are sized by importance. Labels show how well each is sourced: confirmed, reported or emerging.

11

Learn more

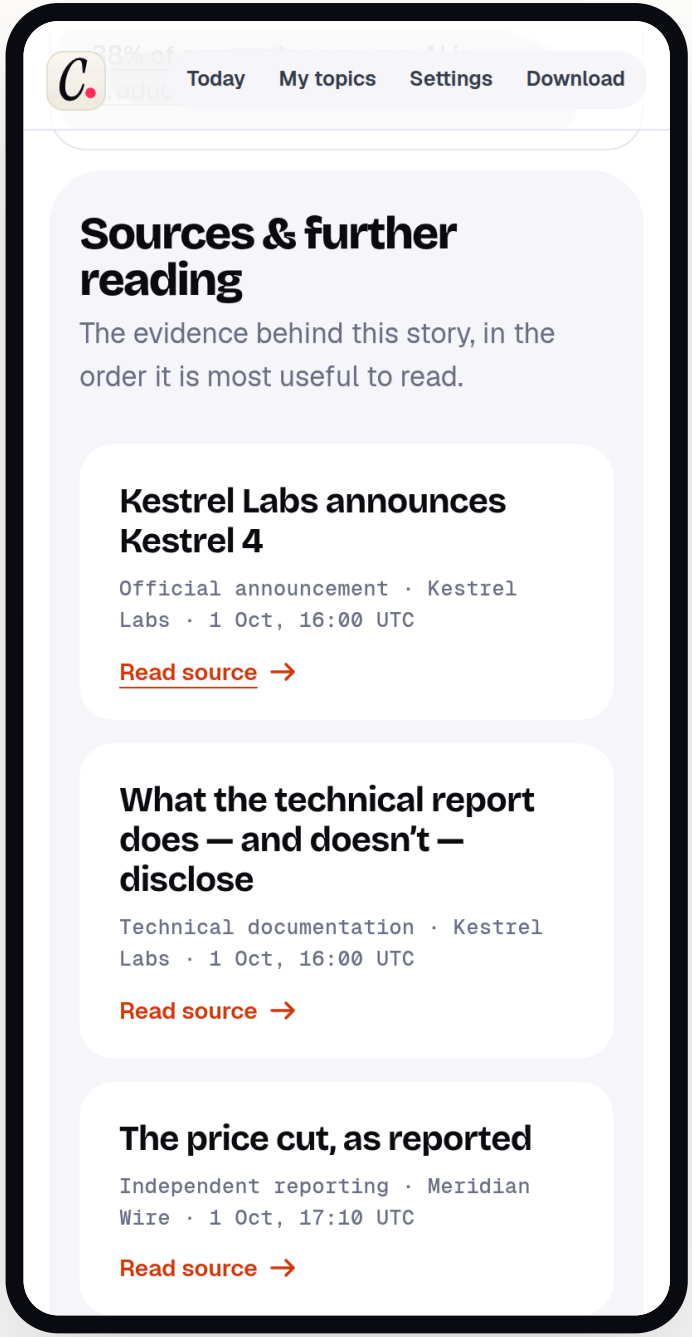

Open any story for context, a timeline and what each source added.

12

See the sources

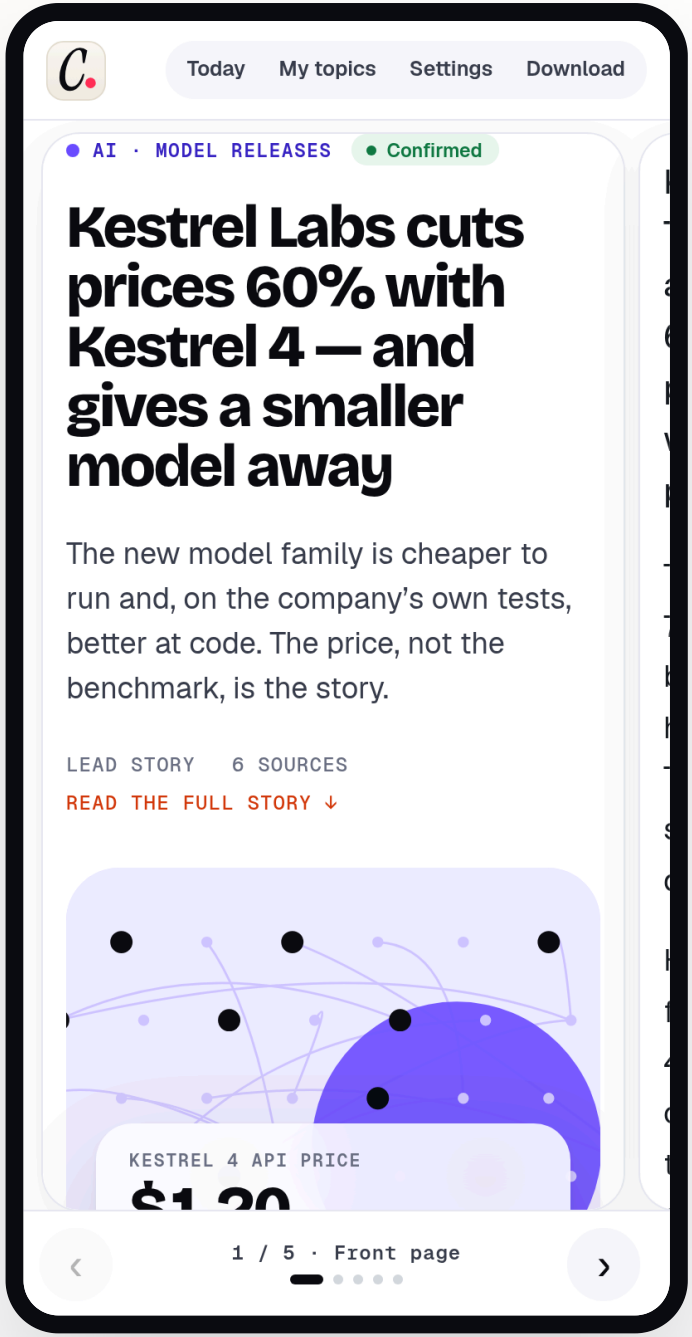

Sources are grouped and explained, with a path to the original.

13

Back to where you were

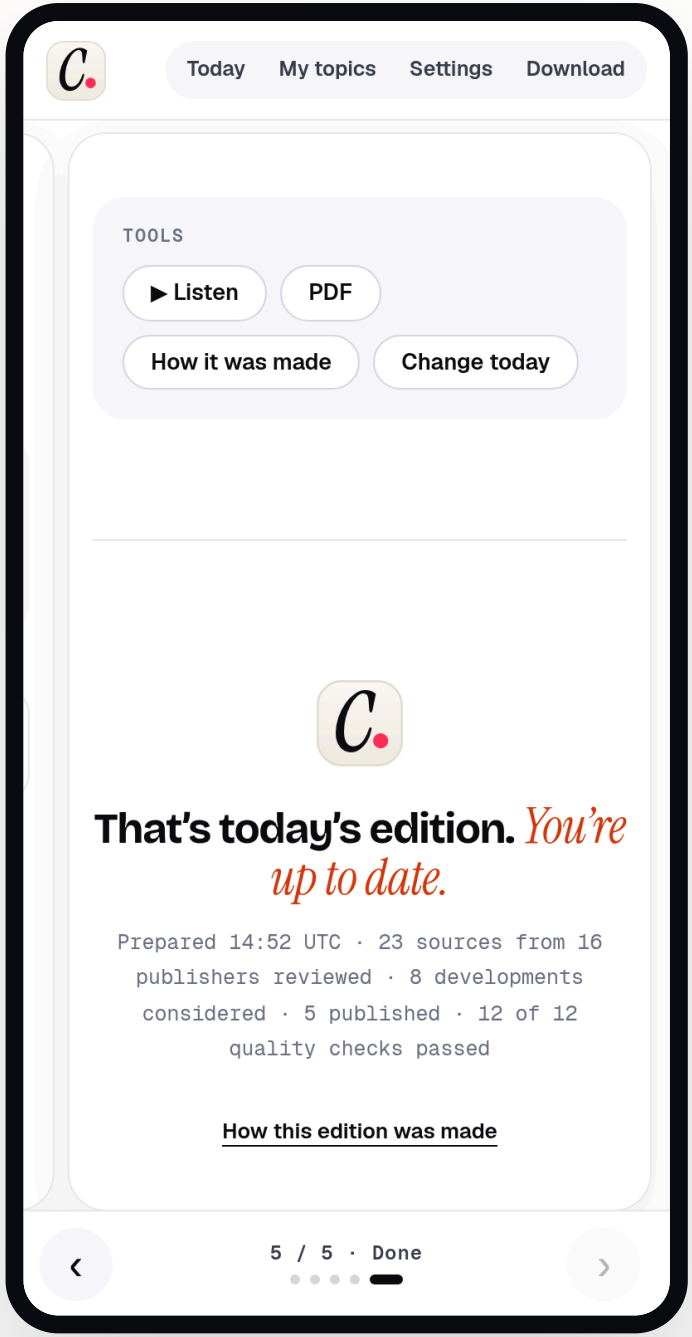

Return to the paper on the same page and carry on reading.

14

You are done

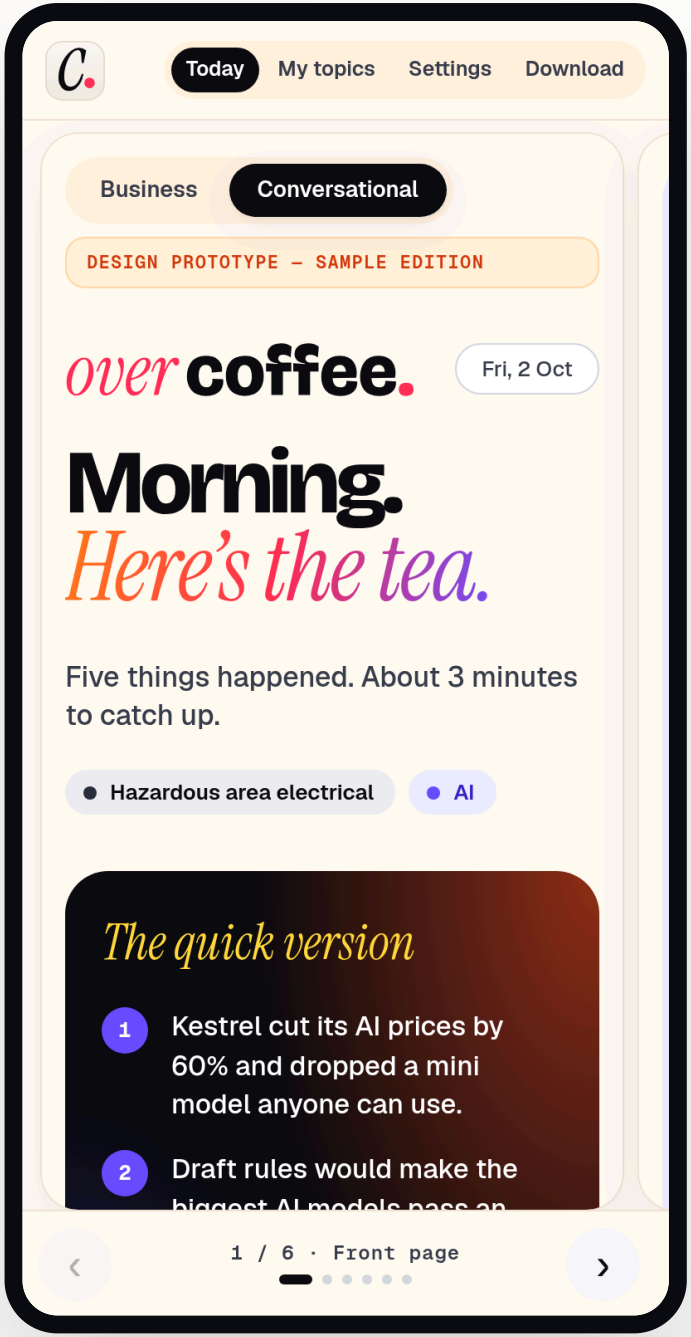

The last page has your tools: listen, download a PDF, see how it was made. Then get on with your day.

15

Conversational voice

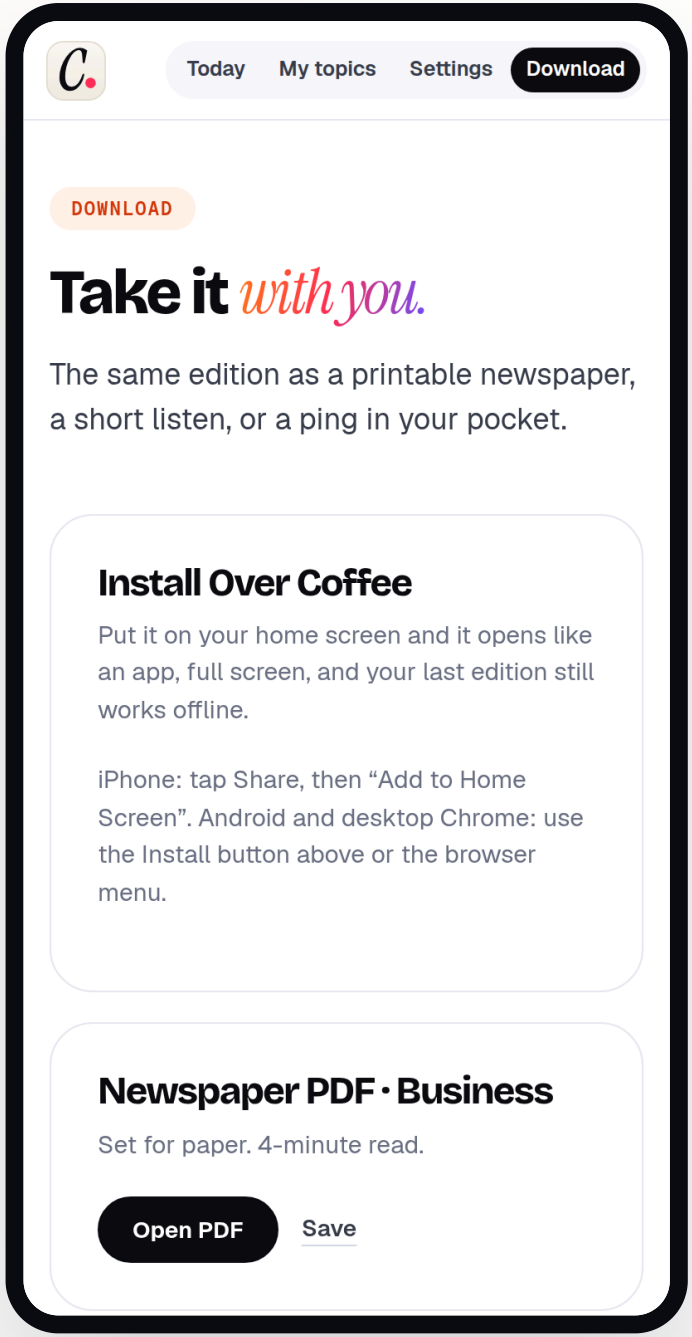

The same edition in simple, friendly words. Caveats like “not peer reviewed” are kept.

16

Install it

iPhone: Share, then Add to Home Screen. Android and desktop Chrome: tap Install. It opens like an app.

That is the whole thing.

Tell it what you care about. Read it over coffee. Swipe the pages, tap Learn more when you are curious. Then get on with your day.

Something wrong or confusing? Send a screenshot and one line on what you expected.